HISTORY

During his annual press conference at the 2018 Masters, Chairman Fred Ridley announced the creation of the Augusta National Women's Amateur. Set to commence the week prior to the Masters, the event was designed to inspire greater interest and participation in women's golf and create a new, exciting pathway for these players to fulfill their dreams.

Jennifer Kupcho, the world's top-ranked amateur, played her final six holes in five under par, including an eagle on the par-five 13th at Augusta National, to become the champion of the inaugural Augusta National Women's Amateur in 2019.

The 2020 Championship was canceled due to the global COVID-19 pandemic, but a year later 17-year-old Tsubasa Kajitani became the first international champion and the first winner from Japan at Augusta National in any tournament with her playoff victory over Emilia Migliaccio.

In 2022, 16-year-old Anna Davis became the youngest champion after a three-under-par 69 in the final round at Augusta National. In 2023, after two and a half years as the No. 1 amateur in the world, Rose Zhang defeated Jenny Bae in a two-hole playoff. In 2024, Lottie Woad birdied Nos. 17 and 18 to win by one stroke over Bailey Shoemaker.

Augusta National Women's Amateur 2024 Recap

Woad Comes Up Clutch, Captures Title

The fifth edition of the Augusta National Women's Amateur tested both the nerves and the skill of even the most talented competitors in the field. Still, there was not a single turn in the winding road that England's Lottie Woad was not prepared for.

It was Bailey Shoemaker of the University of Southern California who had provided Woad with a push by posting a terrific bogey-free round (dual 33s on each nine), lifting her to seven-under-par 209.

Woad may have been down following a bogey on No. 13, but her steely determination meant she never was out. The 20-year-old Florida State sophomore was adamant to stay in the mix until the end, and what an ending she would write.

Hard work, especially on her putting, was the winning formula for a historic finish that proved just enough. With birdies at three of her last four holes, Woad carded a three-under 69, moving her to eight-under 208, one stroke clear of Shoemaker.

When Woad, leading by two to start the day, suddenly found herself chasing, she birdied the par-5 15th to pull within one, tied Shoemaker with a 12-foot birdie at 17 and then pulled off the clincher at the uphill 18th. Woad smashed a deep drive, just as she had done at 17, then hit a "shoulder-to-shoulder" 9-iron from 130 yards to 15 feet. The putt was a downhill double-breaker, which only heightened the tale. Woad met the moment.

"Luckily, it broke back right at the end," Woad said. "I was hoping it was going to be a nice, stress-free day, but it was far from that. In the end, it's a cooler way to finish."

Dates

April 3 - April 6, 2024

Lottie Woad birdied hole Nos. 17 and 18, becoming the fourth player ever to do so and win by one stroke at Augusta National.

University of Southern California's Bailey Shoemaker carded a bogey-free final round of 66 to finish runner-up.

Rose Zhang Claims 2023 Victory in a Playoff

After four annual attempts, a weather delay of more than three hours, a mid-round grip change and a two-hole playoff, World No. 1 amateur Rose Zhang claimed one of the few titles that had eluded her in an illustrious amateur career: the Augusta National Women's Amateur.

Beginning the day with a five-stroke lead after setting the Championship's 36-hole scoring record, Zhang made a double bogey on the first hole and was four over par through seven holes when play was suspended due to inclement weather.

After play resumed, she played even par the rest of the way as Bae, playing one group ahead, went three under over her final 10 holes, pulling even with Zhang with a tap-in birdie at No. 17.

The playoff began at No. 18 where Zhang and Bae both made par. The two continued on to No. 10 where each player found the fairway off the tee. Zhang's approach found the green while Bae's shot went left into the shrubs. When Bae was unable to save par, Zhang two-putted to claim the title.

The Stanford sophomore shot 66-65-76 to finish nine under par, while Bae, a fifth-year senior at the University of Georgia, shot 69-68-70.

"I'm just really proud of myself in terms of how I was able to overcome so much media, so much expectation: going into this event everyone was talking about how I should win, how this will finalize the trio of amateur golf," Zhang said, referring to having won the U.S. Women's Amateur and the individual and team NCAA Division I women's golf titles at Stanford.

March 29 - April 1, 2023

Rose Zhang had competed in all four iterations of the Augusta National Women's Amateur. Her previous best finish was T-3.

University of Georgia's Jenny Bae overcame a deficit in the final round to force a playoff.

Davis Comes From Behind, Becomes Youngest Champion

Wearing a bucket hat reminiscent of a youthful Jack Nicklaus, 16-year-old Anna Davis joined the Golden Bear and so many other legendary golfers in the annals of champions at Augusta National.

Davis shot 70-76-69 to become the youngest champion in Augusta National Women's Amateur history. The high school sophomore from Spring Valley, California, overcame a two-stroke deficit with her three-under-par final round.

Davis finished with a one-under-par 215 total, outlasting the field by one stroke. At No. 100 in the World Amateur Golf Ranking entering the Championship, Davis had four birdies in her final round, including three birdies over a five-hole stretch on Nos. 9-13.

"I'm still a little shocked — I don't think it's processed that I won here," Davis said. "It's pretty surreal, to be honest. I'm pretty speechless. I can't even fathom what just happened."

Beatrice Wallin and Latanna Stone, co-leaders to begin the final round, faltered, opening the door for Davis to lock up the come-from-behind victory. Stone led by two strokes with two to play after a birdie at 16, but a double-bogey at No. 17 and a bogey at the 18th catapulted Davis to the top.

Stone and her Louisiana State University teammate, Ingrid Lindblad, tied for runner-up while Amari Avery, Benedetta Moresco and Wallin finished T-4.

Dates

Anna Davis carded four final-round birdies, including two at Amen Corner, on the way to her 2022 victory.

Louisiana State's Latanna Stone co-lead entering the final round before eventually finishing runner-up.

Kajitani Wins Playoff to Become First International Champion

Seventeen-year-old Tsubasa Kajitani of Japan defeated Emilia Migliaccio on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff to win the 2021 Augusta National Women's Amateur. Kajitani shot 73-72-72 for a one-over-par 217 total and became the first player from Japan to win at Augusta National.

"I can't really imagine [the reception I will receive] when I'm back to Japan," Kajitani said. "But hopefully everybody is happy and will enjoy, and I'm looking forward to going back to Japan."

Migliaccio, then a 21-year-old senior at Wake Forest, recorded five final-round birdies en route to a two-under-par 70 while the final group was on No. 13.

Kajitani, ranked No. 26 in the World Amateur Golf Ranking (WAGR), entered the final round tied for fifth place. While others were jockeying for position and going through ups and downs, she remained steady and continued to quietly navigate her round. After an early bogey on the par-3 fourth hole, Kajitani rebounded with birdies on Nos. 8, 14 and 15.

But Kajitani ran into trouble with a double bogey on the par-4 17th. However, she made par on No. 18 to tie Migliaccio with the clubhouse lead, then sat back to watch the final three groups finish.

The playoff returned to the 18th hole and Migliaccio hit her second shot right of the right-greenside bunker. Her third found the bunker and she was not able to get up and down, finishing with a bogey 5.

Six players – Pauline Roussin, Rachel Heck, Emma Spitz, Karen Fredgaard and second-round co-leaders Ingrid Lindblad and Rose Zhang – tied for third place, one stroke behind Kajitani and Migliaccio. Olivia Mehaffey was alone in ninth place, two strokes off the lead.

Tsubasa Kajitani overcame a double-bogey 6 on No. 17 with a par on the closing hole to force a playoff with Emilia Migliaccio.

Wake Forest's Emilia Migliaccio shot a two-under-par 70 in the final round with her mother, Ulrika, on the bag.

Augusta National Women's Amateur 2019 Recap

Kupcho Surges to Claim Inaugural Title

Jennifer Kupcho, the world's top-ranked amateur, played her final six holes in five under par, including an eagle on the par-5 13th, to prevail against Mexico's Maria Fassi and become the first champion of the Augusta National Women's Amateur.

The Wake Forest senior trailed playing partner Fassi by two strokes after 12 holes. Her eagle on No. 13 kickstarted an impressive second-nine stretch that also included birdies on the par-5 15th, par-3 16th and par-4 18th.

The 21-year-old from Westminster, Colo., was fighting a migraine that resulted in blurry vision as she made the turn. She battled back to record a five-under-par 67 – fittingly, the lowest round of the Championship – to tally a 10-under-par 206 total for the three rounds and win by four strokes.

"It's always a great feeling to win," said Kupcho. "But I think to win at Augusta National, just to get to walk the fairways and walk up 18 with as many fans as there were, it's an experience like none other."

The reigning NCAA individual champion punctuated her victory with a 25-foot birdie putt on the final hole.

"I think, first of all, for me to hit the first tee shot of the tournament, just to open it up, it was a great honor to be able to do that," said Kupcho, who hit the very first drive of the inaugural Championship in the first round.

"And then to be able to hit the last putt and to win, it's just amazing. It's an amazing feeling, to have my brother here, to have my parents here, everyone out there supporting me. It was quite a day."

Fassi finished runner-up with a Championship total of six-under-par 210. She was followed by Yuka Saso of the Philippines (214) and Yuka Yasuda of Japan (214), who tied for third.
